

It's Good to Be Alive Today

Hedal Mary Francis
Assistant Professor
Agurchand Manmull Jain College
Meenambakkam, Chennai

It's good to be alive today

Ah! The magic dawns

At your smile

Dazzling Echo's of your laughter

Thy sound of my name

Echo's in my ear

Thy voice, thy glance

My strength assured.

Ah! What beautiful day were those

When I ran into your arms

World was sweet and dreamy

Music as Candence of life

Little soul in me rested blind to the pathos of the world

Ah! How wonderful were those moments!

When we laughed together

When you held my little hands

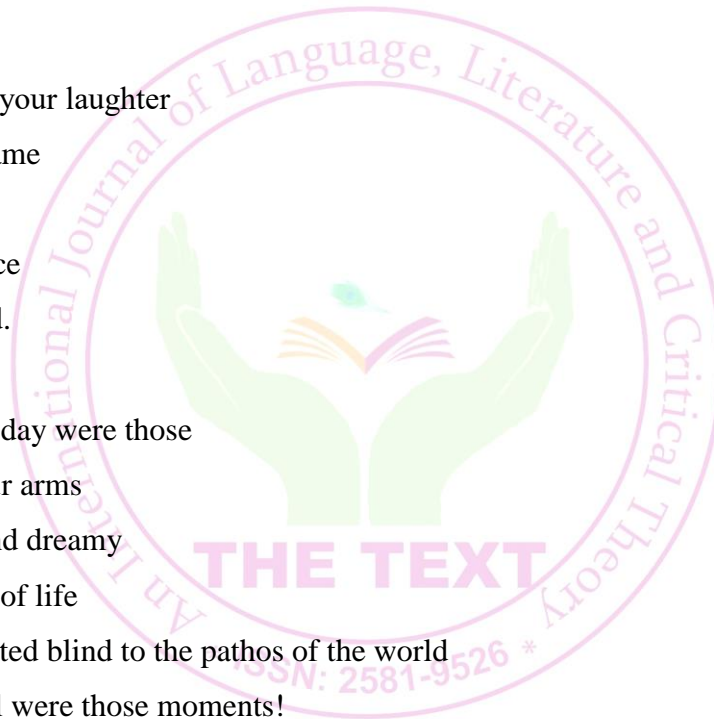

The comfort of the beautiful day and night

Were always found by your side.

What a beautiful day it makes

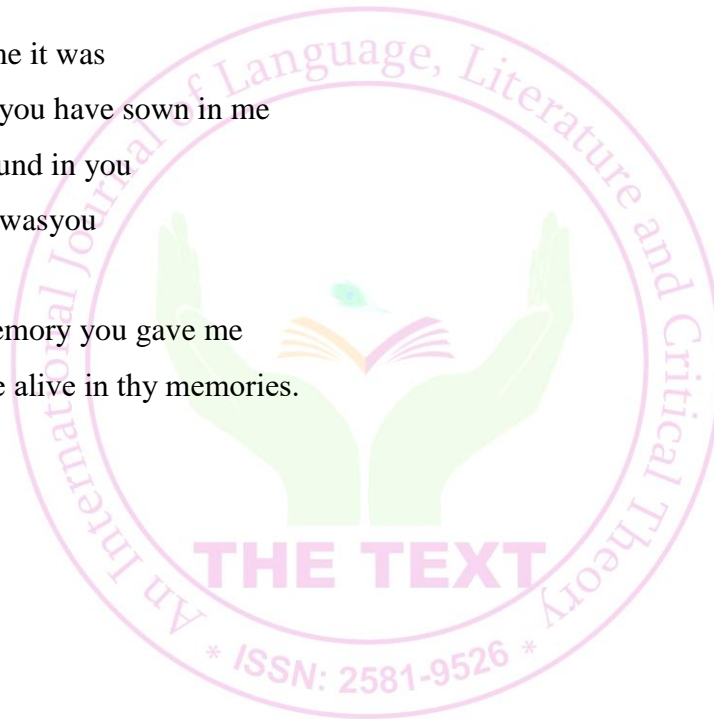

To live by the cascading memories

The world is sweet now

But not as sweet as it was.
My dear Soul, Time would have parted us
Taken you away across times
Thy body withered within soil
My dear soul I cry for your love
I cry for your hands
I cry to hear you say my name
I cry with all my soul.

What a beautiful time it was
I permeate the love you have sown in me
I pass the grace I found in you
I pass the hope that was you
Empty and wrecked
What a beautiful memory you gave me
It's a good day to be alive in thy memories.

The Modern Love

Hedal Mary Francis
Assistant Professor
Agurchand Manmull Jain College
Meenambakkam, Chennai

Chaotic world
Amidst toxicity
Ghostly silenced hearts
Fear of damnation
The Modern Love is exhausting
Not too much
Not too little
Nothing roots
Emotions had become demands
Feelings had become sensitivity
Passions had become Clinging
The Modern Love is exhausting
Fleeting attraction
Fear of surrendering
Prisoners of Self
Empty and Wretched
The Modern Love vapourised
Root for me boy!
Let's Love little more
I'm phobic of this Modern Love.

