

Speaking Silence

P. Malathy
Assistant Professor
PG & Research Department of English
Government Arts College (Autonomous)
Coimbatore

Words uttered are noticeably powerful;
We need to pronounce them very careful.
They build the broken and revive the frozen.
Some words go in vain while some bring in pain.

When crazy phrases, gush out like races
Could they erase the clumsy bruises?
Inflicted by the sender - on heart that live tender
Words can leave a scar or mark a slander.

Some speak words; Some speak silence
Vigilance in silence preaches compliance.
To live without grievance
And to show caring reliance
Not only in the word appliance
But also in the impeccable silence.

